

For X to be a discrete random variable, it must satisfy the following conditions:

1. X can take only countable (finite or infinitely many) values, and
2. X has a probability distribution such that $0 \leq P(X = x) \leq 1$ for all x and $\sum_{all\ x} P(X = x) = 1$